

Product Description

Living life to the fullest means being with the people you love and going where you want to go. We love transport chairs because they do just that. They are much lighter and more compact than traditional wheelchairs and that is a game changer because now you can take them just about anywhere.

Transport Wheelchairs

Living life to the fullest means being with the people you love and going where you want to go. We love transport chairs because they do just that. They are much lighter and more compact than traditional wheelchairs and that is a game changer because now you can take them just about anywhere.